Consolidated Chicago

The extra session of the legislature adjourned sine die at 10 o clock this morning. With the exception of an act amendatory of the banking law, the measures adopted A FRESH arrival of the above goods, embracing all all pertain to the military exigencies of the times. We subjoin a synopsis of the work accomplished by the session:

"An act to provide a military force for immediate service to aid in protecting and defending the constitution and the Union" authorizes the governor immediately to call into the service of the state three regiments in addition to the three already called for by the general government. It further authorizes the state three already called for by the general government. thorizes him when these three shall be called into the service of the United States, to call out two more regiments and hold them in readiness for any subsequent demand that may be made on the state by the national government, and so on, during the war, holding two regiments in camp ready to be mustered when needed, into the United States service. "An act to provide for borrowing money to repel invasion, suppress insurrection and defend the state in time of war," appoints the governor, secretary of state, and state treasurer to negotiate a loan upon state bonds, bearing six per cent. interest, of one million of dollars, to be used as a war fund. Sixty per cent. of this loan is to be negotiated for specie; the balance may be ex-changed for fully secured bank paper.

These are the leading measures of the session. Two acts were passed in regard to the maintenance of the families of volunteers, one oppropriating from the war fund five dollars per month to each family, and the other authorizing counties, towns, cities and villages to levy special taxes for the same purpose. Another act amends the law of last session so as to exempt volunteers from civil process as soon as accepted by the state. "An act to provide for the payment of discharged volunteers" gives such as may have been called into service and subsequently discharged, in consequence of the extension of time for which hey were called from three months to three years, the regular army pay for the time they were in service.

The sum of $50,000 is appropriated for the purchase of arms and equipments for the state, the purchase to be made by three commissioners appointed by the governor. A sum not to exceed $10,000 is appropriated to pay for extra clerk hire; nessengers, and other extraordinary expenditures in the executive department. An act to prevent rendering aid to rebels contains stringent. provisions for the prompt punishment of offenses coming within that category. Subsequent to the passage of the army bill authorizing the government to call out three more regiments, a bill was passed amending it by providing that the section which restricts the pay of regimental offi-cers in the service of the state to $125 per month, shall not apply to such officers until after they have been in the service of the state three months.

The act amending the banking law prohibits the bank comptroller from receiving. after the first of December next, as security for circulating bank notes, any other public stocks than those of the state of Wisconsin and the United States. These are all the measures passed, exept appropriations to the chaplains, and

o the clerk of the special committee which reported a bill-that did not pass-in regard to re-organizing the militia of the state and the act providing that the expenses of the extra session shall be charged against The joint resolutions which have been signed by the governor were also viz.: authorizing the governor to be absent from the state during the present war; recommending the war department to form a brigade of Wisconsin volunteers, and appoint Gen. Rufus King to its command; and the resolution in regard to the assas sination of Col. Elisworth.

COL. ELLSWORTH AND HIS PARENTS .-- In a short sketch of the life of Col. Ellsworth, published in the N. Y. World, the following of interest occurs:

At the time of his departure from this city with his regiment, his parents were stopping at the Astor House. At his last interview with them before he left, his moth

"I hope God will take care of you Elma." "He will take care of me mother," he replied. "He has led me in this work, and

He will take care of me." God has taken care of him, and the culmination of his life could not have been more glorious for himself or the cause for which he died.

Col. Ellaworth was exceedingly beloved wherever he was intimately known. The impression was sometimes obtained by strangers that there was a degree of affect tation in his deportment, but those that knew him best were his warmest and most devoted friends. At Chicago and Rockford he was a universal favorite. President Lincoln entertained for him a high personal regard. It may not be amiss to mention at this time that Col. Ellsworth, has been engaged for the last two years to Miss Carrie Spat ford, a young lady of seventeen, the daugh-ter of Charles F. Spafford, a wealthy citizen of Rockford, Illinois. Miss Spafford was recently a student; in the Carroll Institute Brooklyn. The marriage would probably have taken place ere this, but for the break ing out of the war.

The death of Col. Ellsworth will mark an era in the history of this war, and his name will hereafter stand by the side of Warren and others who fell among the first in the revolution in defence of their country. The assassin who has deprived him of life has conferred upon him immortality. The effect of his murder will be to intensify the war feeling in the north, and to furnish a battle cry in future conflicts!

Scott's Tactics.—In commenting upon the skillful and comprehensive preparations at head-quarters, the New York Commer cial Advertiser save : In this systematic, gradual, but sure hem ming in of his adversaries, the genius of Winfield Scott shines in its clearest lustre. It is said that upon one occasion a remark was made to him respecting this peculiari ty of his strategy, and he playfully replied: "When I am going to catch a rat, I always see to it that all of his holes are first etopped." Union Note Paper!

English Opinion --- The Morrill Tariff.

The letter of Carl Basson from England, which we publish to-day, probably indicates truly the feeling of what are called the higher classes in that country. They accounted for by principle alone, and giving have undoubtedly a sympathy for the class too much reason to those foreigners who the secessionists, exterminate them if in the south which lives upon the labor of others. It is natural, and we ought not to be surprised to witness it. But we hope better things of the people of England .-They ought not to take sides with the "lords of the lash," who despise the laborer, whether white or black, and would degrade him into serfdom. When they fully understand that our rebellion grows out of the same great question-the rights of laborwhich agitates their politics, we believe they will do the north justice.

The writer speaks of the alteration of the Morrill tariff bill as necessary to a change in the public opinion of England in relation to American affairs. While it may be years that I have had occasion to remark necessary to alter the present tariff on account of its defects, we would not do it to please England, or anybody else. Let us protect our own "interests" as they do. A tariff with an especial eye to revenue, will be necessary for a long time, to pay our enormous war expenses, and with that a moderate incidental protection on a few armoderate incidental protection on a few articles may be necessary: If England can there would be a peaceable settlement. not do justice to our holy and righteous cause, without dictating the sort of tariff we shall have, let her go for Jeff Davis and his piratical slave drivers.

A Set of Patriots.

The spirit of patriotism is at fever heat. Judging from what we have seen and heard no new political administration of the governmentever gathered around it more ardent friends willing to accept its offices than have clustered about the excutive office in Madison to aid in the organization and fur nish the supplies of the military force to be sent into the army by this state. What is peculiarly gratifying is the fact that all these men possess a high order of talent-they are not of that class who are competent to serve their country only as privates or noncommissioned officers in the ranks of the army. They are abundantly qualified to take the high places-do the headworkengineer the concern. In truth, it is doubtful whether even their patriotism equals their capacity to do the cause good generally and their ability to discharge important specific duties. The country, no one need fear, will lack for want of integrity, knowledge or experience.

The Madison Argus, we are afraid, is a little disposed to be captious when it finds fault with such an encouraging exhibition of love of country and sucn a gathering of talent and virtue about the commander-in-paper, only to rebuke its levity, and not, for which, since their establishment, have quite an instant, to give it our approval. We think we are, ourselves, fit for a Major Gen- are a peculiar feature of English periodical eral at least, and are ready to leave our literature. The Saturday Review is some home duties whenever the President will sears old. It is very cleverly-almost too send us a commission and a years' pay in advance:

A SIEGE IN FACT.-Fort Sumter was nothing to it. Cummings Point was a pop-gun affair. The iron hail from the sand batteries was a play spell. We speak of the beleagured executive office. There is an army large enough to garrison Fort Pickens besieging the Governor for places they feel capacitated to occupy. The beseiging army is almost entirely for positions in the quartermaster's department, though some would accept of colonelcies and lieutenant colonelcies. The Governor is environed with these patriotic gentlemen. They fill his office when there, and assault him in the streets. His bed chamber door is not proof against their incursions. Sick or well, he is obliged to listen to their professions of patriotism and proffer of services. There are enough of them to capture a secession army. If formed into a regiment they would exceed the maximum. They could take a city or storm a castle. We wonder at the endurance of the Executive Fortress that has withstood it. But a new carpet will at least be wanting immediately.

GUERRILLA WARFARE BY THE REBELS. Our guerrillas on the banks of rivers, who are good shots, would render service, when hostile ressels infest our waters, by taking aim at the man at the wheel. There are aim at the man at the wheel. There are not often many men on board a vessel who can steer her, especially in strange waters, and it is good policy to devote the attention of the best shots to the steersman - Richmond Despatch.

CHELTENHAM, Eng., May 11. To the Edilors of the Evening Post : A severe accident, from the effects of which I have not recovered, detains me, unwillingly enough, on this side of the At-In this position I have tried to do my best for the country by explaining the true state of our affairs to the English public, through such channels of information as I could get access to, and it has recently struck me that a sketch of the progress and condition of English public opinion might not be altogether without value to you. My conclusions are are not drawn solely from the press, which, on the whole appears to me rather more hostile to us than the nation is, but also from conversations with prominent Englishmen of all parties.

When our troubles first began, the majority of Englishman openly, and I believe sincerely, regretted them. The reception of the Prince of Wales was fresh in their recollection, nor, was the idea absent from their minds that America might have been of some assistance to them if European affairs became a little more complicated. At the first symptoms of secession, strong sympathy was expressed for the government; considering the position of England on the slavery question, and how much the English have said and written against slavery, they could hardly do less than take our

THE EFFECT OF THE MORRILL TARIFF.

All this was changed by that thrice un-lucky Morrill tariff. There was a veering of opinion and expression too sudden to be used to complain (like De Toequeville) that can, at any rate give them such a thrashing Englishmen would presist in looking at everything from a solely English point of

Not only was the Times furious against us, but the more sedate and aristocratic weeklies went to all lengths of invective, declaring that protection was just as bad as slavery, if not worse. It was just after the reception of President Lincoln's inaugural that I endeavored unsuccessfully to gain a bearing for our side in the Times. "When I had ventured nearly two years ago to address the "Thunderer" on some subjects connected with continental politics, my communication was received with all the honors of large type, but now-well, I found a place in the columns of the Standard: not the first time during the last twenty how much more liberal (with some striking exceptions) the English "conservatives" are toward America than the English "liber-

THE COTTON EXPORT DUTY.

The export duty on cotton partially opened the Times' eyes, and as actual hostilities were slow to begin, the pendulum of opinion settled after its oscillations into a steady This wish had two sources, the one a genuine feeling of sympathy and sorrow, the other a more selfish apprehension lest war should interrupt a portion of English trade and injure some English interests. The very night before the belligerent news arrived I was at a club numbering among its members some of the most distinguished literary, artistic and political celebrities in London. Every man was of one opinion. I tried to convince them that they were mistaken, that the south would yield nothing and the north could yield no more; that the border states, who had had the game in their hands, did not know how to play it, and in short there was no escape from a desperate war. No one would listen; but the next day brought the war tidings.

POSITION OF THE ENGLISH PRESS. And now the weathercock vecred once more southward, and there was an outcry against us as being the oppressors and commencing a causeless and hopeless was. Only three papers stuck to us throughout, for the Morning Herald and the Standard are virtually but different editions of the same print, the other two are the Daily News and the Sun. The Post, the ministerial or gan, had carefully worded and tolerably impartial articles, but the semi-ministerial evening paper, the Globe, was and is more bitter against us than the Times itself. One of its correspondents, who signs himself city of New York was peopled by 600,000 Irish and Germans, and only 40,000 native ments, some of them containing a dozen up Americans, and to this astounding lie the Lord Palmerston's known anti-American proclivities it might be expected that some f his papers at least must go against us. We copy the following article from that I confess, was the line taken by the two cut out the old Examiner and Spectator, cleverly—and hypercritically written. In politics, "liberal," that is to say, opposed to Lord Derby; yet on some questions more obstructive and retrograde than the most backward sections of Lord Derby's party. In religion, by no means orthodox. yet violently opposed to dissenters. London Review is of much later datefounded, indeed, only last summer: less satirical and more orthodox than the Saturday. There is a dark rumor that the poet Tupper writes prose in it. Probably many of your readers have never heard of of these papers, but they are of great importance. The Saturday is almost entirely supported by University men, and repre The Saturday is almost entirely sents a very powerful and able section of English aristocratic intellect, while the London is the exponent of a more conventional and average upper class type. Both these reveiws have made a dead set at us, as hypocritical and wanton aggress-ors, men who could only "bluster" while the south was acting, who now talk of "conquering" the south, are more likely to be conquered by it. And they say that our only chance is quietly to give up Washington. It is disagreeable enough to find that a large number of highly-educated Englishmen have such an opinion, especially since these very writers will not, up to the pres-eut day, speak in measured or decent terms of Louis Napoleon, showing that they think us far below the Austrians, or even the comparatively small number of disaffected Frenchmen. Perhaps, however, we may console ourselves for the contempt of these fine gentlemen by the consistent support of Punch, who has never yet taken the side of slavery.

All this hostile feeling is not propia molu.
Abroad, as at home, the conspirators get the start of us. Their agents have been in this country for weeks, talking over mem-bers of parliament, and doubtless indirectly influencing members of the press. Of the former I have had ocular and oral evidence; the internal evidence of the latter is pretty strong.

PRACTICAL CONCLUSION.

Now, from these obeservation three pracical conclusions are to be drawn: 1st. The Morill tariff must be repealed. This is a truism to you, but it may not be to every one. People did not properly at-tend to the matter before it was passed, and may similarly overlook it now, under the pressure of so many grave events .-Therefore, keep it before the nation-the Morill tariff must be repealed.

2d. If there is an European minister not of Green Bay, daughter of J. S. yet started for his post, let him not "stand tendered her services as nurse.

How the People of England Regard on the order of his going, but go at once."

The American Rebellion. Last month I enquired when our representative at St. James might be expected, and was astounded and confounded by the answer, "about the first of June." members of parliament said to me repeatedly, "we want to help you but can do nothing without some communication with your minister, for we cannot trust the old Buchanan legation." Mr. Sanford may have done something in London; I understand he has in Paris; but we wanted the ambassadors at their posts at both places. The French legation has arrived at last; Providence grant that some of them may be able to speak French.

3d. If we want not to be despised, we must de something, and do a great deal.-The first successes of the conspirators have gained them that sort of respect which always attends on the accomplishment of bold designs, however unscrupalous. Their government, like Louis Napoleon's, originated in a plot; like his, its steps have been marked by private and public robbery; like his, it has substituted despotism for liberty. If it continues to succeed, it will, like his extort acquiescence, and even sympathy from the world. It must not be allowed to continue to succeed, so long as the north has a man or a dollar. Better "set fire to the four corners of the confederacy," ay, and to the center of it, too, hang all privateers as privates, incite the slaves to revolt inundate the Lower Mississippi country by engineering operations above, better do worse than this, if worse is to be done, than yield an inch to the enemy. The se cessionists have imposed on a large portion of educated England their own idea that we are worthless cowards. Let us crush as will make them keep the world's peace for years, and then England will be chapeau bas of us.

Do you say these are "brave words" for man who has the ocean between him and danger? New York contains nineteen twentieths of my property, and there are few men who would suffer more from poverty than I should just now. As to my life, I should be ashamed to boast of readiness to risk it, writing as I do from a counry where gentlemen peril their necks five months in the year for pure amusement, and having lived as I have for years in another country where they are ready to cut one anothers' throats on the most frivolous pretences. I do not even believe that the torthern "democrats," whose "conciliatory" policy has brought us to this pass, were in luenced by any personal fears; they dreaded touching the prosperity and wealth of the country and of their own families. But now, when we see what the results of "conciliation" are, can any man be so infatuated as to wish to stop at half measures? It is already sufficient disgrace that intelligent men should believe nineteen millions of us apable of yielding to four or even to eight millions. If Jefferson Davis is permitted o make Washington the ffirst step of his nvading march, the fourth step will be in in Faneuil Hall; and his accomplice Toombs, rejoicing in the fulfillment of his audacious prophecy, will call the roll of his slaves on Bunker Hill.

Very truly yours, CARL BENSON. From the South.

The following letter is from one of our itizens who has gone to Virginia to bring an aged mother from that land of "hospitality" and "chivalry" to his home among northern barbarians."

HOWARD HOUSE, BALTMORE,) Friday Evening, May 24, 1861.

Having arrived here this evening safe and well, I concluded to write and inform you. This city is very quiet, indeed, it might be taken for a Sunday, as I passed through some of the business streets on my way from the depot. My trip has been very pleasant, a little longer on the route than I liked, owing to not making the connections, being just four days since I left Janesville. As I came over the Northern Central road I was forcibly reminded of war in its true meaning. For about thirty or forty miles out from the city, on that road, can be seen 'Traveler," and looks very much like a a large number of federal troops guarding slaveholder in disguise, asserted that the the bridges. I counted over thirty encampto a full company of men, their quarters Globe would admit no contradiction. From | being close to the several bridges that were rebuit. It certainly was a bold move to burn and destroy so many; several of them were very expensive structures. One I no. ticed was of iron, which the insurgents managed to drop into the river. Workmen were busy repairing them; the trains, however, pass over as they are now. One of the soldiers informed me that the way the bridges were destroyed was by pouring camphene on them. He said there were about twenty men engaged in this work of destruction. Many of the residents along the track are strong Union men, and many of them have the stars and stripes waving over their houses. But he says that there are some bad men beside. BALTIMORE, May 29. A steamer from Fortress Monroe has arrived here. She left last evening at six o'clock, when a small steamer from Norfolk, under a flag of truce, had just landed over a hundred refugees on the Camberand. They were mostly wives and children of the laborers in the navy yard.— They report that there are from 7,000 to 9,000 troops at Norfolk and Portsmouth.

Gen. Beauregard had not arrived. The Louisiana and Georgia troops were the best accounted and disciplined. Provisions were very high. Sixty-seven Union votes were cast at Portsmouth, and over 200 in Norfolk. Several batteries have been creeted between Fort Monroe and Norfolk: that upon Crany Island, midway between and commanding the approach to Norfolk and Portsmouth, has embrasures for 40 guns. The encampment at Newport Point leas thus far been undisturbed. No immediate attack on Sewall's Point or Norfolk need be expected. Gen. Butler will not risk valuable lives for a point of so little impor-tance, compared with others near at hand.

HEAVY FREIGHT BUSINESS .- The Milwau kee and Mississippi railway is doing a heavy freight business from this city, at cars, laden with wheat, depart daily from Janesville for Milwaukee. The currency troubles at Chicago interfere considerably with the wheat trade from this region, and consequently Milwaukee is receiving the bulk of that business, as well as a large proportion of the wholesale grocery trade. We learn that the business on the main line of the Milwaukee and Mississippi railway is unprecedented; on account of the blockade of the Mississippi river. From eighty to ninety car loads a day pass over the road from Prairie du Chien. The business of this road was never better, or managed in a more systematic manner.

SEWALL'S POINT—is about eight miles from Fort Monroe, up James river, on the Norfolk side, and must be passed to reach the Gosport navy yard. Four miles still further up the river is the city of Norfolk. The enlargement of the river between Fort Monroe and Norfolk consists of Hampton Roads. This brief explanation is the next best thing to a chart to show the relative situation of these important points.

RUMOR OF DOUGLAS' DEATH .- This rumor was alluded to in the Rockford, Mil wankee and Madison papers of last Saturday, as prevailing in those cities. It seems to have got a general circulation.

According to all accounts, the soldiers of Pennsylvania have been swindled frightfully, in their uniforms, shoes, &c .-The sharks at Harrisburg, it is said, have been pocketing large hauls out of the coutracts, making the coats, pants and boots gallows, and had it nailed up in his bar so that they are not fit to wear. Such room?" swindlers will everywhere be exposed and punished. The press will aid in the work. and it will be strange if those who attempt to defrand the brave volunteers shall go unwhipped of justice.

STRAYED OR STOLEN .- On the night of the 24th inst., John Nichols, about 45 years | bond of our Union. of age, five feet eight inches high, dark complexion, hair somewhat grey. Had on when he left, a new coat and pants, but rethined his old hat. When last seen he was in the neighborhood of the Hyatt House. on Jackson street, and appeared a little indined for union. A FINE BOUQUET .- Geo. J. Kellogg, of Belle Cottage Nursery, sends us a large bouquet of early flowers, among which are twenty different varieties of tulip, for which he has our thanks. Mr. K. is quite successful in the cultivation of the tulip; be says that when the period of blooming is over, the roots should be taken up and kept till fall, and then replanted. Spring planting is not found to be successful, and for this reason many persons having failed to raise tolips, deprive themselves of the pleasure of caltivating this early and beautiful flow-

HEADQUARTERS 1ST ZCUAYES, CAMP LINCOLN, WASHINGTON, D. C., MRY 23, 1861. }
MY DEAR FATHER AND MOTHER:—The regiment is ordered to move across the river -night. We have no means of knowing to-night. We have no means of knowing what reception we are to meet with. I am inclined to the opinion that our enterance to the City of Alexandria will be hotly contested, as I am just informed a large force have arrived there to-day. Should this happen, my dear parents, it may be my lot to be injured in some manner. Whatever may happen, cherish the consolation that I was engaged in the performance of a sacred duty; and to night, thinking over the prob-abilities of the morrow and the occurrences of the past, I am perfectly content to accept whatever my fortune may be, confident that He who noteth even the fall of the sparrow will have some purpose, even in the fate of My darling and ever loved parents, good bye. God bless, protect and care for you.

The army surgeons requested that ladies stop sending dressing gowns and slippers to the men, and furnish Havelock caps, bed ticks and pillow cases, of which they are in want.

The first regiment had a grand dress pa rade yesterday, with guns and knapsacks, and marched down through some of the principal streets of Milwaukee.

"A WORD AND A BLOW." As we predicted-in editorial parlanceno sooner was the opportunity allowed to Virginia to go through with her mack election than the march of invasion mas taken up. I was expecting "a word and a blow," but did not expect "the blow to come first!" The promptness with which Gen. Scott gave the order to "Forward march!" shows just how much importance has been attached to this military election of the people of Virginia by the cabinet or the commanderin chief, for in reality there were several thousand federal troops upon "Virginia eral who have made inquiries for it, the list | soil" in less time after the closing of the of banks whose bills the bank convention polls than it would take Mason to count up his majorities, much less to publish the results. But the plan was to let the farce be played out. The telegraph will have advised you of the stirring events of yesterday; and no doubt other news will reach you before this. for there will be activity in the war department for some time to come. There is universal grief at the loss of Col. Ellsworth.-While I write the bells are tolling as the cortege moves with his remains to the railroad depot. You will have heard conflicting accounts of the circumstances attending his murder. I call it murder for the facts can place it in no other light. It will be gravely assumed that he was "invading private rights"-that "a man's house is his castle," &c. I have been at some pains to get a correct version of the whole proceeding "from an cye witness."

The first thing done by the gallant commander was to vaise the stars and stripes upon the city liberty pole proclaiming to the citizens who had assembled that he had taken possession of the city by order of the commander-in-chief of the United States this time. From ten to fourteen freight army. Having done this he repaired to the "Marshall House," one of the principal hotels of the city, where a secession flag was flying, and respectfully requested the proprietor to remove the hostile ensign, repeating his position and authority as above, to which request the proprietor peremptorily refused. He then gave him to understand that he should take the matter into his own hands, commanding that no resistance should be interposed. The work was speedily accomplished, and as he was descending the first flight of the stairs from the top of the house, Jackson the proprietor came suddenly from an adjoining room with a double-barrelled gun, and fired instantly, the charge taking effect in the breast. In essaying to get the second bar rel off at one of the Zouaves who had at teuded Ellsworth, private Brownell still a pace in the rear, discharged his market at the assassin literally blowing his brains out, and accompanying the shot with a charge of the bayonet, firmly pinning his victim to the floor as he fell. Eilsworth for Mills, Factories, &c., and some of the hest unpantentwas still standing and evidently conscious ed pumps, in prices from $2,50 and upwards. Any perwhen the assassin met his fate, but fell and expired immediately after. Could Ellsworth have known the violent and cutthroat temper of the villain he had to deal with he would no doubt have been more guarded.

This Jackson was the man who headed the mob last fall who cut down the Union flag at Occoquan, and who boasted, not long since, that he "cut off the ear of John Brown when he was taken down from the

Let no unavailing regrets be indulged at the loss of Ellsworth. The cause can afford the sacrifice. His last heroic act is a rich inheritance to the country he loved. His life dedicated to freedom, he sacrificed at freedom's altar. His blood, though shed by the band of an assassin, seals anew the A. G. --. WASHINGTON, May 25th, 1861.

About five thousand cartridges are daily made at the Cambridge arsenal. A contract has been made with parties in Newport to furnish one million pressed Minie balls, which are superior to those cast.

The federal government has determined to receive twenty-one regiments from Ohio for three years' service. This will include all of the thirteen regiments already mustered into the United States service for three months. Two Ohio regiments are now in Washington.

I am using one of May's Patent Pumps and Self-Regula ing Wind Engine for Mill) on one of my farms, nea anesville. Well 83 feet deep. Pump and mill used together, or may be separated in a moment. One to we hours daily is sufficient to pump water for my stock Also, the pump works very easy by hand and is the first one, after trying different kinds, that gives me entire satisfaction. Having no bolts, packing, suction pipe, or pumping rods, and being made heavy and strong, think hoy must be very durable. Janesville, Jan. 11th, 1861.

I am using a wind engine, and pump of May's patent in a well 65 feet deep. I deem them very valuable improvements, and agree with Mr. Hoskins in the abov expressed onition. Thad been using a Seneca Fail pump that did not answer my purpose.

WM. SOHENCK. Bradford, Rock Co., Wis., Jan. 21th, 1861.

Engines.

Rock Terrace, Wis., Feb. 6th, 1851. Since November 1858, I have been using one of May's Patent Wind Engines, pumping water from a well 188 feet deep. The Engine is a powerful one, often pumping fifty barrels of water per day. It stands 110 feet from the well and the power is communicated from the Engine to the well, underground.

I deem these Engines of great value, saving a vast amount of hard manual labor, and as their merits are understood, think they must come into general use. J. V. ROBLINS.

These pumps and engines have taken first premiums when exhibited in competition at state and county fairs when exhibited in competition at state and country.

THE above are First Class, justly popular, and prompt paying companies. They invite investigation into their condition and societ business entirely upon their real merits. In point of solvency and reliability, and honorable dealing, they have but few equals, and no meriers. They are founded upon the very best securities honorable dealing, they have but few equals, and no measurements. They are founded upon the very best securities in the world—first class honds and mortgages upon property in New York and Brooklyn—services, that have not for the past ten years, depreciated below par, and are every way more reliable and permanent than radroad, bank, and other stocks, which are subject to the fluctuations of the market, and linkle, in times of gazie, as the experience of the nest teachers to become almost, if not entirely, valueloss. And while there are Companies entering the field of competition, well calculated to finished by publishing farial and one-sided distensents of their condition, and without a cash surplus on hand sufficient to reinsure their outstanding fisks, the above named companies always have and keep over and above their capital twice the amount, and it most instances flow times, needed for the reinsurance of all their risks. With such a foundation, and with usuch a condition, they claim the right to look with confidence to the public for liberal parronage.

Folicies issued without delay, and farms risks for a series of years taken at less rates than can be done by Motival Compenies, and a certainty given instead of an amountarity. All tosse promptly adjusted and paid.
